CHARLESTON, W. Va., July 27 .- A general shooting scrape occurred at Raymond City, twenty miles west of here, Monday night about midnight which resulted in the fatal wounding of Chas. W. Tyree and which criminally involves several of the leading citizens of the

The victim of the shooting was the proprietor of a disreputable house, and a party of men was formed to remove Tyree from the town. They proceeded to Tyree's house, and they were met by another party, led by Tyree, armed with guns and pistols, when a fusilade took place and was kept up for some

When day dawned Tuesday morning Tyree was found lying on the field of battle mortally wounded. Medical attendance was given him, but he will probably not live. The town is greatly excited over the possibility of a half dozen of its leading young men being indicted for murder.

FALLEN CHIEF.

CINCINNATI, July 27.—A Homestead special to the Commercial Gazette says: The struggle of the 5,000 steel workers employed in the huge mills of the Carnegle Co., on the bank of the Monongahela, is now hopeless. There is not the slightest opportunity for the men to succeed. Their battle for recognition by the Carnegie Co. of the Amalgamated association in the Homestead mills is quite at an end. The men are practically leaderless. They are divided among themselves. The members of the advisory committee are divided among themselves, and there can no longer be united, harmonious action. Leader Hugh O'Donnell has utterly lost his influence. The strikers no longer trust him. He was Tuesday evening stripping his cozy little home of its furnishings, preparatory to leaving Home-stead forever. He informed the correspondents that he was only go ing away to seek rest after the exciting whirl of events in which he has lived during the past three weeks. His statement is not true. He leaves Homestead never to return. It would be folly for him to remain. Neither he nor any of the other strike leaders or members of the advisory committee can ever again obtain employment in negies. That is why he is about to leave Homestead. That is why his example will soon be followed by some of
